

Staff Augmentation

Don't let resource constraints stall your experimentation program!

"If I only had an allocated amount of a developer's time each week, I could get the experiments I want out!"

Brooks Bell knows first-hand that attracting and retaining great talent in the field of experimentation is hard. Clampering for internal resources, which aren't dedicated to you, is also painful.

Brooks Bell's Staff Augmentation solution is unique because we offer flexible agreements to assign functional talent to fill in a specific gap in your process. We can lend you one or more full- or part-time experimentation consultants to maximize your organization's testing capacity and output.

As the e-Commerce enterprise business leader in optimization, you can rest assured you'll get amazingly talented Brooks Bell experts to fulfill your needs.

We can source:

- Developers you desperately need to code experiments
- Analysts to set up tests, analyze data, and create reports using your testing tools
- Strategists to provide new testing and optimization ideas
- Project Managers to keep your project on time and on budget
- Quality Assurance experts to ensure everything looks and functions the way it should for successful, seamless tests

Brooks Bell's Experts

Scott Plumb

Director of Client Development

Phone: 561.573.5592
splumb@brooksbell.com